ALL SORTS.

There is talk of organizing a football team.

Out-door sports are all the go this fine weather.

Fred Dangberg was among the arrivals yesterday.

Haskell, the renowned shirt man, was in Carson yesterday.

Carson is putting on her Spring habiliments in great shape.

There is no improvement in the condition of Harry Cobb.

Frank Wytst is now doing the local work on the Enterprise.

Louis and Will Viseau returned from the Midwinter Fair yesterday morning.

W. E. F. Deal, the Comstock attorney, passed through to Virginia yesterday.

The social at the M. E. parsonage last night was well attended and was very enjoyable.

Johnny Moise, the would-be suicide, is getting along nicely. Dr. Guman took 11 stitches in his throat.

Business is picking up in Carson, and work is increasing in the shops. More men have been put on this week.

Men like Chas. A. Gardner are benefactors, they divert the invigorating tiffs of laughter to refresh the gardens of the people.

Carson's efficient night watchman, Officer Bill Pickler, is confined to his home with rheumatism, and Adam Uhl is filling his place.

Ike Olcovich was much better yesterday, and is on the road to recovery. We will be glad to see him back at his post on the Weekly.

A woman seeking divorce through the courts at Detroit, Mich., announced in her complaint that her husband once said that he hoped to live to dance over her grave.

Coxey, Brown and Jones, industrial Army leaders, were found guilty of carrying banners in the Capitol grounds and walking on the grass. They have been granted a new trial.

The jolly comedian, Chas. A. Gardner, and his grand new romantic comedy "The Prize Winner," will be our next attraction. Mr. Gardner with his merry play makes new friends wherever he goes.

The strikers are gaining strength in Pennsylvania, and have posted notices headed by a skull and cross bones, with the following written underneath in red ink: "All men who go to work at the Hill Farm tomorrow, prepare to meet your God!"

The Arizona acknowledges the receipt of "Nevada and Her Resources." It is a fine piece of work in every respect, and is strictly a Nevada production. It was compiled, printed and bound in this State, and will doubtless advertise the Battle Born State as she should be.

Jackson is Troubled.

Peter Jackson seems in a heap of trouble over the match with Corbett. As is well known, the pair have signed for a fight between the 20th and 30th of June for a stake of $10,000 a side and the largest purse that can be secured. Already each man has deposited $7,500 with the stakeholder, and the balance will be put up next Saturday.

The Mount Clemens Club offered $45,000 for the mill and a guarantee of $10,000. Corbett, however, refused to consider the proposition, but packed his trunk and went to Europe. Since his departure the Olympic Club of New Orleans has signified its willingness to bring off the fight, but Jackson interposes an objection, and declares that he will not fight south of Mason and Dixon's lines on account of race prejudice. To a man up a tree it looks very much as if the champion is afraid of the colored boxer, and that he is pursuing a dilatory policy in order to avoid a match.

Stock for Nevada.

Two thousand head of cattle were shipped from Salinas county to Mill City last week, and about 25,000 head of sheep have recently gone from the drought stricken districts of Southern California. The Southern Pacific Co. have given a rate of $25 per car on stock from Southern California to Nevada and $30 per car into Utah. Ranges in this State are becoming valuable property.

For particulars inquire at residence.

One on Fatty Cohn.

The other day George Mills, after getting his receipt for box rent out of the Postoffice, sauntered into the Monarch saloon, and tossing the receipt onto the bar, nonchalantly asked Fatty Cohn if he would kindly cash it for him.

"How much is it for, George?" asked Fatty.

"You can see—$20 75," said George, pointing to the date, the 20th, and the amount of the box rent, 75 cents.

"All right; here's your money," remarked Cohn as he passed it over the bar; "we always like to accommodate a regular customer. Just in dorse it, please."

George thanked him, treated the crowd, and then hunted up Bryson, whom he "put on."

Bryson went on shift presently, and seeing the receipt in the cash drawer, and the drawer greatly depleted, asked what it meant. Fatty explained, and then Bryson told him (among other things) that it was only a receipt for box rent at the Postoffice, and utterly worthless. Fatty told him to take it out of his wages. Just then Mills came in and returned the money, except what he used to treat with.

Fatty "set 'em up" in good shape, and made everybody swear to silence.

When Mills wants a cigar now he only has to exhibit that receipt; it's good for anything Cohn owns.

Cadet Encampment.

The University cadets are having a glorious time encamped on the University heights, or, in scholarly parlance, on that portion of the college campus known as the "ram pasture." The boys occupy about forty tents, one of which being the guard house, is usually occupied by a squad of law breakers. A sentry paces grumly up and down in front of it night and day and renders escape impossible.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning six high privates were discovered in dishabille costume outside the picket lines. A corporal's guard was immediately detailed to arrest and bring them in, which was accomplished without bloodshed, although several volleys of musketry were discharged at them. They were at once taken to the guard house and locked up to repent at leisure their rash step. In all probability they will be court-martialed and ordered to pack sand.

Frequent musket shots in the dead of night startle the residents of the northern part of town and denote that some vigilant picket has seen the evening. The boys enjoy it and the out-door exercise is a splendid diversion from the long months of confinement in the school room, bracing the students up so that they are able, with less tax upon the system, to complete the last and hardest month of the year, that before commencement—Journal.

"The Prize Winner."

The German flavor of The Prize Winner presented at the Opera House last evening with Charles A. Gardner in the title role, was an agreeable innovation from the plays which ordinarily appear here. There was enough plot to the drama to hold the attention of the audience while several of the situations were not only strong but for the most part new. The acting altogether was good, while the singing was excellent. The Tyrolean drinking scene in the Turner's hall was very fine. The singers were frequently encoored and responded graciously. Mr. Gardner is a pleasant actor of the Scanlan type and sings well.—Journal.

The company will appear at the Carson Opera House in The Prize Winner tonight. Seats on sale at Steinmütz's Drug Store.

Yo Tambien Victorious.

At the Spring meeting at the St. Louis fair grounds about 5,000 people assembled to witness the great inaugural handicap, with $2,500 to the winner. The track was frightfully muddy and only six horses of the list of entries sent to the post. Yo Tambien, the great daughter of Joe Hooker, was the favorite at odds of 7 to 10 and she won the race easily.

Yo Tambien was raised by Theodore Wilcox and the people of this country and State take an interest in the mare, and are pleased with her success.—Journal.

At Island Park, Idaho, last Friday D. D. Caldwell and a man named Osborn, living in a cabin together, quarreled. Caldwell drew a revolver, and in the scuffle that ensued he was accidentally shot and killed, according to Osborn's story.

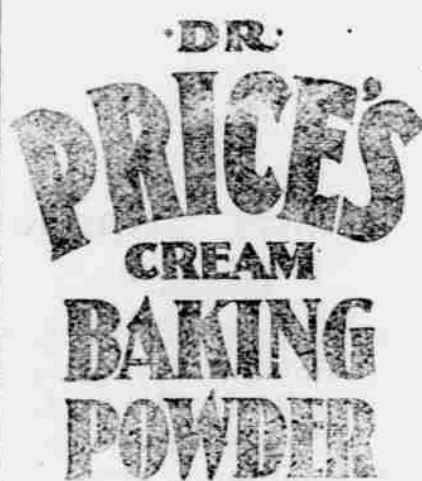

Governor Penoyer recently issued in order to the State Adjutant-General in regard to the use of the militia during the Northern Pacific strike. It was short and to the point: "No interference by State troops. Cleveland's army brought Coxey's army to Portland; let Cleveland's army take care of Coxey's army."

Hymen Lopez, who has been tried at Spokane for criminal assault on his servant girl, has been acquitted by a jury. The social prominence of Lopez and the active interest taken by a league of more than a hundred prominent Spokane ladies in his prosecution, made this case one of the most sensational in the history of the State of Washington.

In a number of layyards, about Healdsburg they have introduced the trolley system in the gathering of hops. This system is much the same as the cash delivery in large retail stores. The hops are picked, thrown into large carrier baskets and shot to the dryer at the far end of the yard. The system does away with the damage due to so much handling by ordinary methods.

As a result of a clean-up at the Blackhorse mine, Joe Raycraft toted about $300 worth of gold into Carson yesterday. Arthur brought a nugget into the APPEAL office last night the size of a hen's egg, which was worth $168, and a smaller one worth $28. He got out of the office as the printers were drawing straws to see who would lay him out. The sight of so much gold excites even a printer.
